DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:

- I. Claims 1-24, drawn to a method of verifying proper design and operation of a programmable logic device (PLD), classified in class 714, subclass 725.
- II. Claims 25-35, drawn to a method of designing, implementing, and verifying proper operation of programmable logic devices (PLDs), classified in class 716, subclass 004.
- III. Claims 36-53, drawn to a method of translating simulation test vectors into device level test vectors used to test a simulated model of a programmable logic device (PLD), classified in class 714, subclass 741.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

Inventions I and II / III are related as combination and subcombination.

Inventions in this relationship are distinct if it can be shown that (1) the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed for patentability, and (2) that the subcombination has utility by itself or in other combinations (MPEP § 806.05(c)).

In the instant case, the combination (I) as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination (II) as claimed because the method of invention (I) can verify proper design and operation of a memory array device without requiring synthesizing and implementing the software model of the PLD. The subcombination has separate utility such as synthesizing the software model of a basic digital logic and implementing the digital logic based on the synthesized software model.

Also, in the instant case, the combination (I) as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination (III) as claimed because the method of invention (I) can verify proper design and operation of a memory array device, without requiring applying a simulation test vector to a simulated model of the programmed PLD. The subcombination has separate utility such as applying a simulation test vector to a simulated model of a memory array device other than of a PLD.

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art as shown by their different classification, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

A telephone call was made to Paul Amrozowicz on May 10, 2004 to request an oral election to the above restriction requirement, but did not result in an election being made.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143).

Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a request under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).
